GREATEST MOTHER IN WORLD BOOSTED SUNDAY

Need for Continuance of the Work is Pointed Out by Many Speakers.

The Third Annual Roll call of the American Red Cross formally opened today throughout the nation, and is to continue for a period of ten days. The chief activities for the success of the campaign, in the Twin Cities yesterday, were the earnest expressions from pulpits, calling attention to the claims of the Red Cross, and a large number of addresses delivered by the four minute men or their substitutes, in the several churches of the two cities.

According to Judge W. T. Lowe four minute men's chairman, his call to service yesterday was almost universally obeyed by his corps of speakers and the many audiences which heard them gave hearty responses. The addresses delivered by the four minute men yesterday, according to reports from those who heard them, in every instance dwelt upon the splendid work which is being done by the Morgan county chapter and urged continued support to the greatest "mothering" organization of the entire world. A symposium of those addresses, taken from reports at hand is as follows: The war has passed, but the wounds it inflicted are not yet healed. Official figures show that 300,000 families of soldiers and sailors were aided during a single month during the war. Six months after the signing of the armistice this high record was broken by the Red Cross serving over 450,000 families of sailors and soldiers, an increase of 53 per cent. That post war conditions will necessitate as large efforts as ever for the Red Cross goes without saying. Will we do our part in this continued work? Not only to our own soldiers and sailors are we due this work but, the American Red Cross is committed to a like work in France, in all Eastern Europe and in far away Siberia.

The Red Cross combats hunger, wounds, tuberculosis, and bad sanitation. It assists in building up of man power, and in the care of sick and under fed children.

"In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these, my Brethren, ye have done it unto ME."

The Red Cross has a definite program for relief in case of unlooked for disaster such as was the Johnstown flood, the Charleston earthquake and the Galveston flood. If the coal strike continues, especially if it spreads to other industries the Red Cross is sure to be called on.

According to a report furnished all 4 minute speakers, by Mrs. Vera Austell, county secretary, the following are the facts as to the actual work of our home service and soldier and sailor relief campaign: 70 cases have passed under the care of the Red Cross workers. A number of women's husbands have been located who did not wish to be found, allotments, as per the government plan for aiding the families of soldiers and sailors, have been secured for 30 families. In many cases allotments were due to families who did not know it, until informed by the Red Cross. Three sick soldiers were given hospital treatment. 23 families were visited. A large number of soldiers and sailors were shown how to fill out blanks in order to secure their disability claims, and enrollment blanks for vocational training in case permanent wounds. One family was maintained with food and clothing for three months. Six children were furnished shoes, clothing and school books. Two sick people were sent to relatives who agreed of Labor is Back of the Two Walk-Outs

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The coal miners are willing to negotiate with the coal operators on either the basis of the present selling price of coal or upon the basis of the cost of necessities, Edgar Wallace, Washington representative of the United Mine Workers of America, declared this afternoon. The statement was regarded as particularly significant, inasmuch as Wallace is one of the few officials of the mine workers who has not been restrained by court action in Indianapolis.

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The $15,000,000 strike fund of the United Mine Workers of America will be tied up by the restraining order issued in Indianapolis, the department of justice announced today. There has been some question of whether this was accomplished by the restraining order. All other strike benefit funds to be raised will be precluded against by the department of justice, it was announced.

(International News Service.)
The full effect of the national coal strike was felt today. Officials of the United Mine Workers of America claimed that few if any of the miners who obeyed the strike order Saturday morning had gone back to work.

Despite reports to the contrary, no decisive steps have been taken toward mediation, at least openly. Optimism was reported in official circles at Washington over telegrams received by Attorney General Palmer indicating that some of the strikers would return to work.

Production in the Pittsburgh district was not cut off entirely, as 14,000 non-union miners were reported at work in the Somerset region. Union officials at Columbus declared that the 40,000 organized miners who obeyed the strike order in Ohio fields would remain out. Union and non-union miners were said to be working a number of small wagons, or private-owned mines, in the coal fields around Sullivan, Indiana. A number of non-union miners are still at work in West Virginia. The Michigan fields were still tied up. "Not a mine working" was the word from Springfield, Ill. The state troops have been distributed through the Colorado fields as the result of efforts by the operators to resume operations.

Plans were under way for a great legal battle when the federal injunction against officials of the mine workers comes up for argument in the United States court at Indianapolis Saturday.

WANTS NEW PARTY

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—"There will be a political and industrial revolution in this country if the government continues its injunctive activities against labor," said Wm. H. Johnston, president of the Machine Tool Union on his return here today from Toledo, Ohio. "The democratic administration has shown itself a bungler, and it is bungling very badly the coal strike. Labor cannot hope for anything from either of the old parties. There must be a new

It is Announced.

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—President Wilson will make no further efforts to arbitrate the coal strike, unless the strike leaders call off the strike, it was announced at the white house today.

The President stands ready to appoint a tribunal to settle the differences between the miners and the operators, it was stated, but he will not name any tribunal while the strike is in progress.

The President's plans for a new industrial conference are also being held up, pending settlement of the coal strike, it was announced. The President has approved fifteen members of the new commission, but will not call them into session during the strike. It was believed that any such conference at this time would be unable to meet industrial issues without confusing general issues with the issue of the coal strike, just as the steel strike issue was thrown into the first industrial conference.

(International News Service.)
BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 3.—The number of men out of the mines in the Alabama district today does not vary materially from that of Saturday. Both the mine union officials and the operators claim to have made gains. The miners contend that only a few unorganized mines are working with full forces, while the operators contend that the real test will come Tuesday, as there is always a heavy lay-off Monday after pay day. Many of the mines paid off Saturday.

Three companies of the Alabama National guard are camped at the fair grounds here ready for any emergencies, and Company C of Selma has left town today and will arrive in Birmingham at 6:20 o'clock tonight.

TO DEFY COURTS

(International News Service.)
PITTSBURG, Kan., Nov. 3.—Defiance of the federal court injunction against payment of strike benefits to idle miners was planned here today by representatives of the 13,000 striking miners in the Kansas district. At headquarters here it was said the payment of $7.00 per week to every striking miner will be made as long as the union fund holds out.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE VOTED

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 3.—Whether there shall be a state-wide walk-out of union labor to aid the steel strikers in their efforts to hold meetings, today rests in the hands of the executive council of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor.

By a vote of 506 to 2, the delegates to the special convention of the federation here gave authority to the council to call the strike "when in its judgment it is necessary to compel respect for law and the restoration of liberty."

NEW NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN SPEAKS FOR BOND AMENDMENT

A. G. Patterson Delivers
Address at County
Court House Today

A. G. Patterson, newly elected national Democratic committeeman from Alabama, spoke to a large audience in the Circuit court room for thirty minutes this morning, urging the passage of the proposed bond issue of $25,000,000 by the state. The amount appropriated by Alabama will be matched by an equal amount from the Federal government, Mr. Patterson explained.

The bill submitting the bond issue amendment to the people provides that the bonds shall be issued only as the roads are built and shall be retired by taxes from automobiles, placing the burden of the cost of improving the highways of the state on the shoulders of automobile owners, who, advocates of the issue declare, are perfectly willing to bear the cost in order to improve the roads.

The proposed bond issue, Mr. Patterson said, is the greatest plan ever undertaken in the state for improvement of the roads of Alabama. The election will be held in February and an active campaign will be waged for the amendment by the Alabama Highway Improvement Association.

Mr. Patterson recently was named by Governor Kilby as a member of the new highway commission, from the Eighth district.

The Albany fire department had the lightest October during the month passed it has enjoyed in recent years. #### CONDITION OF ROAD FROM AUSTINVILLE TO CITY CENSURED

A. J. Roper Makes Appeal to Street Commissioner and Board of Aldermen

TRADE DISCOURAGED BY BAD STREETS, STATED

Outlying Communities Are Also Affected by Stretch of Roadway Leading to City.

The condition of the streets leading into Albany from Austinville is censured in a letter which A. J. Roper, of Austinville, has addressed to the street commissioner and Albany Board of Aldermen.

The communication follows:
Albany, Ala., Nov. 1, 1919.
Street Committee, Albany Board of Aldermen, City.

Dear Sirs:

In this note I desire to call your attention to the miserable conditions of Albany's streets from 9th street, South, to corporate limits of Austinville.

As a pioneer settler of Austinville I have seen it grow from the forest to a town of 1200 to 1500 people. It would appear then that I should be in a position to sum up the needs of this village. One of the pressing needs at present is a better way of reaching Albany.

The bad condition of this highway has been repeatedly called to the attention of the Albany Board without any permanent relief.

The great trade of this town has been virtually discouraged by Albany from the way you have neglected this work. As it stands, those who do have cars are not over anxious to go over this road and those who do not have difficulty in finding taxi men to brave the dangers and pitfalls to be encountered. Then too this is a part of the main thoroughfare for a great section of the county to Albany. From Danville, Neele and other points they must go over this portion of Albany's streets in order to reach the city. This large trade and traffic will eventually be turned to Decatur if relief is not forthcoming, via the main Danville road.

Many of the friends of ours from Albany have promised their assistance in this matter after having once experienced the terrors existing between the two cities. One of them has given me definite promise of three carloads of good cinders if the city will only use them.

Winter is rapidly approaching and the now bad road will be in a position to complete its share of the highway. From a financial standpoint and one of civic pride we should not neglect this matter any longer.

Sincerely yours,
A. J. ROPER.

FIRST HEARING ON MERGER PETITION TO BE OPENED THIS AFTERNOON AT 2

Decatur's Request for Election
Will be Taken Up by Judge
Troup.

NO INDICATION GIVEN OF PLAN OF "ANTIS"

All Legal Evidence, Both Documentary and Oral to Be Heard.

The first hearing on the petitions recently presented by citizens of Albany and Decatur and asking an election on consolidation of the two cities was opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the courthouse by Probate Judge Lovick Troup, before whom the petitions were filed.

In accordance with provisions of the Lynne bill, which makes possible elections on consolidation in cities of certain size, Judge Troup will hear all legal evidence both written and oral concerning the qualifications of any or all signers of the petition from Decatur. If Judge Troup finds that a sufficient number of qualified voters have signed the Decatur petition and the Albany petition, when the latter is heard Tuesday at 10 o'clock, he will call an election on the merger, to be held within 40 days from the date of the last hearing.

Should consolidation be voted by a majority of the citizens of both Albany and Decatur, the cities would be one by the first of the year, it is stated and would receive full credit for the increased population in the government census report which will be made next spring.

Opponents of consolidation have not indicated what steps they will take, if any, in connection with the two petitions now pending in the probate court. At Judge Troup's office this morning it was stated that no protest had been filed. Advocates of consolidation claim they have far more than enough names to the petitions to make them "stand up" under the provisions of the Lynne act.

NORTH ALABAMA MAY BE FUTURE MINING SECTION

Press dispatches from Huntsville declaring coal mines at Monte Sano have been sold and will be developed led to reports here today that other coal mines in North Alabama, including fields in Morgan and Lawrence counties will be operated by outside mine companies.

For several years a small quantity of coal has been obtained from fields in both counties, but the production has never reached a marketable stage and practically all of the fuel is consumed in the "neighborhood" from which it is mined. The coal strata in Morgan and Lawrence fields are said to be very near the surface and it is indicated in rumors here today that in some places the coal could be taken out with steam shovels, as is done in Walker county, near Jasper. The biggest steam shovel in the world, said to exceed in size those employed in digging the Panama canal now is mining coal in Walker.

THIRD ROLL CALL OF THE RED CROSS

The American Red Cross, an institution that was brought closely home to the public during the days of the war, when its real worth was so strikingly demonstrated, is today beginning its third annual roll call, or appeal for memberships. The drive will very appropriately close on November 11—armistice day—a red letter in the American calendar.

In the campaigns of the past, the booming of cannon on the western front, the daily casualty lists containing the names of friends and relatives, conducted their own propaganda for this great organization. Twenty million persons enrolled themselves as agents of humanity and gave their "bit" to aid in staunching the red blood that was gushing from the wounds of patriotic soldiers. As the "mother" of soldiers, the Red Cross did a noble work. Its usefulness, however, was only accentuated by the crimson setting of battle, for in the milder days that follow the cessation of hostilities it has an equally great mission to perform, and its appeal should be no less keen than it was a year ago.

The signing of the armistice did not terminate the government's duty to the men who fought for their country. That contract will not be completed until every service man has been looked after and cared for, until the maimed have received vocational training, until the tuberculous have been sought out and treated, until the thousands of little odds and ends of red tape have been smoothed out and untangled and every hero of camp and trench has received everything that is coming to him. To continue this work is the purpose of the Home Service Section of the Red Cross, a service that maintains its offices and its agents in every county; a service that reaches out into the remotest hamlets.

Morgan county should certainly be eager and ready to answer the call of the Red Cross this year, as in the past. But 1,850 memberships are asked for the county, a goal that can be easily attained if every individual will but stop to recall the obligation that he owes to humanity.

FURTHER EXPANSION OF NITRATE PLANTS

That the seventy million dollars which the war department spent in the erection of plants at Muscle Shoals for the production of nitrate to be used in the manufacture of powder is not to lie useless, now that the war emergency has been removed, is indicated by the introduction of a bill in Congress Saturday appropriating $12,000,000 for the enlargement of the plant and its equipment for the production of fertilizer during the days of peace. The bill, offered by Representative Kahn, of California, chairman of the House Military Affairs committee, is directly sponsored by Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, who is a letter to Mr. Kahn explained:

The department plan calls for equipping the plant to turn out fixed-nitrogen in available form for agricultural uses.

The major usefulness of the plant—practically its entire usefulness, in peace-time, will be to the agricultural interests of the nation.

Seventy million dollars have been spent on the plants, and a dam across the Tennessee River is being built to produce electric power, and the government's investment can only be salvaged by continuing the operation of the enterprise and by improving the processes with a view to further economics and consequent reduction in prices for available nitrogen for agricultural purposes.

If we allow the plant to stand idle, it will not only deteriorate, but will become obsolescent, while, if it can be continued in operation, the forward steps in the development of the process can be currently installed and, should any emergency need arise, the plant will be up to date and ready for immediate use.

The move made by the Secretary of War for salvaging the government's big investment is one that will commend itself to a thrifty nation. It is backed, not alone by the demands of the farmers for cheap fertilizer, but also by the necessity of securing initial returns on the original expenditure. Just what it will eventually mean to the Tennessee Valley is hard to conjecture, but there is every reason for optimism to prevail in this section, which at last is having the opportunity to come into its own. It is apparent that the government does not intend to penalize the Muscle Shoals plants for being located south of the Line, but is going ahead with a development project of the vastest magnitude. The Twin Cities, indirect beneficiaries of the government's activities, have every reason to feel cheerful and to expect the early advent of an era of unusual prosperity and progress.

GRUBBS APPROVES NEW WAGE SCALE

The increased wage scale granted employees of the North Alabama Traction company, following the granting of permission to increase the fares by the councils of Albany-Decatur, has been approved by Judge Grubb, of the Federal court. The increased scale went into effect October 1. The scale now gives the men 30 cents an hour for October, 37 cents an hour for November and one cent an hour increase monthly until the scale is 40 cents.

Judge H. P. Merritt Takes Oath Office

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 3.—Judge Henry P. Merritt took the oath of office Saturday, and immediately thereafter assumed his seat as a member of the Alabama Court of Appeals, succeeding Judge Joel B. Brown, now a member of the Supreme Court. Mr. Merritt had previously resigned as Speaker of the House of Representatives and also as a member of the State Board of Education. He had successfully guided the House of Representatives of 1919 through an unusually eventful session, and his promotion to the Court of Appeals was a recognition of his services to the state.

UNFAVORABLE REPORT ON ITS REPEAL MADE BY SENATE COMMITTEE.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Unfavorable report was made today by the senate judiciary committee on bills to repeal the espionage law, introduced by Senator France of Maryland and Senator Poinsett of Washington. The committee expressed an opinion that only a part of the espionage law should be repealed. Repeals of the espionage law would affect the prohibition law, which provides that search warrants shall be issued as provided in the espionage law.

SPLENDID REPORT HARTSELLE CHURCH

METHODISTS RAISE $7,000 DURING YEAR. PASTORS WELCOMED.

HARTSELLE, Nov. 3 (Special).—Rev. Clare Purcell, who will leave Tuesday to attend the North Alabama Conference, which convenes in Birmingham, closed his work for the conference year with Sunday morning's service. Mr. Purcell will submit to the conference one of the best, if not the best report that has ever been carried from this church, his congregation having paid in full the pastor's salary of $2,285, besides all other assessments in full, the grand total amounting to $7,045. Mr. Purcell, who only came to this charge in July, served as chaplain first, in the U. S. and later in France and Germany, but has administered the affairs of the church with such marked success and has so endeared himself to this people that his membership is a unit in desiring his return.

While the Methodists were having a farewell service at 11 o'clock Sunday morning the Baptists and Presbyterians were welcoming new pastors in the person of the Rev. M. Bunyon Smith of Nashville who arrived Saturday to assume the pastorate of the First Baptist church and the Rev. E. L. Renick whom comes from Birmingham to shepherd the Presbyterian flock the coming year. A "get acquainted service" was held at the Baptist church Sunday night when the new pastors were publicly and formally introduced to the town by the older residents and pastors Rev. Clare Purcell and L. C. Carawan of the Christian church.

Miss Hermione Troup was assisted in serving by Misses Laura-Pride and Virginia Carswell, Miss Tricie Scheer was the fortune teller, her wonderful and weird predictions kept keeping the boys and girls not only deeply interested but kept them in the best humor. Those present were: Eleanor Harrison, Helen Russell, Amanda Pride, John Bullard, Erin Draper, Florence Young, Annie Fay Almon, Jean Buchanan, Dunlap Alexander, Barrett Shelton, Roy Buchanan, Olon Harrison, Gill Draper, Clyde Nichols, Ernest Morrow, Eugene Collier, Damon Blackwell, Joe Bell, Warren Gardner, Earl Jones.

Tuesday evening, following the rehearsal at the Central M. E. church for the Almon-McEntire wedding, Mrs. J. W. Cobb will entertain the bridal party.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Friday evening Emerson McCulloch entertained a few of his friends at a Halloween party. The lower floor of the home was decorated with ferns and flowers, with pumpkins and black cats here and there. The only light was that of the glow of the Jack-o'-lanterns. Music, games and contests were features of the evening. At a late hour refreshments were served. Halloween symbols tied with black and yellow ribbon were given as favors.

Those present were: Feleete Buchanan, Marjorie Beard, Virginia Almon, Lucy Roberts, Christine Almon, Mary Jervis, Louise Breedlow, Mildred Boglen, Earle Parker, A. G. Edmunson, T. Walker, Robert Nebrig, Lawson Davidson, P. Huddleston, Jack Terry, Raymond and James Britain.

MISS FENNEL HOSTESS

On Friday evening Miss Eva Fennell was hostess to the Good Fellowship class of the Central Methodist church at the home of her sister, Mrs. Blackwell in Fairview. The spirit of Halloween was carried out by this charming hostess in a most delightful way. Jack-o'-lanterns that seemed to wink at every passer by adorned posts, swings and veranda. The guests were met by ghosts whose only language was a moan or sigh. The living room presented a weird and uncanny appearance in its drapings of white with owls, black cats and bats nodding at one on every hand. A witch brewed fortunes in a real caldron and great merriment was caused by the reading of the fortunes. Ghost stories, games and music were enjoyed and during the evening delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. P. G. Kirkland of West Albany spent Sunday in Huntsville with her relatives.

Mrs. Thomas Carl and Mrs. M. C. Hardison, after a visit to Mrs. T. D. Wilkinson, leave today for Llanos, Tenn.

BRIDGE FOR MISS ALMON

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. T. M. Jones Jr., and sister, Miss Mary Penick, entertained at Bridge in compliment to Miss Almon, a bride of this week. Tables were arranged for Bridge in the beautifully decorated rooms. Yellow was the motif, expressed in chrysanthemums, tied with flowing streamers of yellow tulle. Over the table for the honoree, depended a large yellow wedding bell. An attractive table and chairs for the honoree were white. The chair of the honoree was decorated by a decoration of white tulle arranged in a filmy bow. Chairs of those playing had decorations of yellow tulle. At the conclusion of the game, the prize was presented to Mrs. H. O. Pickard for top score, and to the honoree a pretty souvenir. Tees repeating the yellow motif in wedding bells were served, each plate decorated with a yellow chrysanthemum. Mrs. T. M. Jones, Jr., and Miss Mary Penick wore afternoon dresses of flesh georgette. Miss Almon was chic in a street dress of blue serge, heavily braided. With this she wore a large black hat. Mesdames Frank Lide, John W. Jones, Meade Vaughn, L. H. Bullard, O. H. Pickard, T. H. Alexander, C. L. Saunders, George Wallace, Stanley Green, Roy Billings, Gordon McDuff, Misses Trix Scheer, Alice Hatton, Pansy Russell, Janie Morrow, Kathleen Almon, Marjorie Rainey, Leta Bess Harrison played the game.

HALLOWE'EN ECHOES

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. O. Moebes, Mildred Moebes and Myrtle Graves, had a Halloween party. These little misses had put their hearts in "having a pretty party" and they sure had it, with bats, witches, broomsticks and creeping things, not forgetting the palmtist who told wonderful things of present, past and future in a shadowy corner. The dining table was quite a feature, centered as it was, by a crystal bowl of peanut shells containing fortunes told in verse, tied with black and yellow ribbons. "Biting the Apple" by a boy and girl was the fun par excellence, —the apple missed—my, what a kiss. Witches' brew was served by Mrs. Moebes, assisted by Miss Margaret Frahn. Those at the party were: Ruth Matthews, Martha Porter, Katherine Braun, Myrtle Graves, Sue Rives Brown, Emma Pride, Margaret Simrell, Mildred Moebes, William Price, A. Q. to care for them during the period of their illness.

Out of 19 checks due, but not delivered, on account of improper addresses or change of address, 12 of them were safely delivered. Five railroad tickets were donated to needy soldiers. Jobs were secured for two men. A great many letters have been written to secure needed information for soldiers and sailors.

When post war conditions pass it is the intention of the Red Cross to extend its mission of mercy to all needy people throughout the world. And in order to provide funds for this great work, the third roll call is being made throughout the nation. In due time you will be approached by other Red Cross workers, to answer to this call, and it is hoped there will be no 'absentees' reported or any who fail to live up to the inspiration and duty of the hour.

Woodrow Wilson, our great war president, and no less great in these most strenuous times, is the official head of the American Red Cross. All money you may pay into the treasury of the Red Cross, is officially accounted for and the books of the society are audited by the Treasury department of the U. S.

After all is said about religions, true and false, it is a fact that the hospitals and similar institutions of Christianity, are the crowning glories of our faith. And our Savior is the world's Savior and the Son of the living God, first of all as the Bible records because "He went about doing good."

Condition Explained

This final statement by Henry P. Davidson, shows exactly the present financial conditions of the American Red Cross:

"As former chairman of the War Council of the American Red Cross, and now as a member of its executive committee, I address this statement to the American people concerning the financial basis of the appeal of the Red Cross during the next week for members and for a new fund of $15,000,000.

When the War Council on February 28, last, turned over the management of the Red Cross to the permanent executive committee, the records showed a book balance of $127,000,000 still remaining out of the two War Fund Drives. Of this amount $33,000,000 was in the hands of the 4,000 odd chapters for their local work and $54,000,000 was represented by goods for relief abroad either already in Europe or in process of shipment. Some $41,000,000 remained available for new purposes.

On February 28, the expenses of the Red Cross were at their peak, this peak continuing for some ninety days subsequently. During that period practically our whole army was under arms or in process of demobilization and relatively few men had been discharged from our hospitals. The work for families of soldiers did not attain its peak until the first of April. These situations entailed very great expenses to the Red Cross.

Abroad the coming of peace opened up areas unbelievably devastated particularly in the countries in eastern Europe. Such was the magnitude of the task of administering relief that for awhile the Red Cross feared that the funds on hand would be insufficient to last until this November. This effective work of those directly in charge of the activities enabled the Red Cross to wind up more rapidly than had been anticipated that portion of the work which was susceptible of being terminated and for which appropriations had been made on a wartime scale. As a result there were many savings from appropriations made and the reports for the month of September show that for the coming year approximately $14,500,000 will remain and be available out of the $41,000,000 turned over by the war council on February 28. This sum of $14,500,000 will be added to the proceeds of the campaign which begins next week.

The Red Cross must now complete its work for our soldiers and their families and round out its wartime program. In Europe the needs for aid are simply without limit. The larger needs can only be met by the governments but there is an imperative call for emergency relief where the processes of government are too slow to aid those suffering acute affliction. The sum now asked for by the Red Cross will enable this great organization to do a well proportioned piece of relief work abroad and carry out at home its activities planned for the new year and furnished proper reserves to provide for emergencies or disasters.

The American people who have responded so wholeheartedly and upon such a magnificent scale to past appeals of the Red Cross will, I am sure, be eager again to avail themselves during the coming week of the opportunity to enlist themselves on the rolls of the Red Cross and thereby rededicate the efforts of this great organization to the service of humanity."

Powerful Lens of English Make.

The most powerful lens used in aerial photography during the war, it is said, was made in Birmingham, England. It was 6 1/2 inches in diameter and had a focal length of 36 inches. The power and clear definition of this lens were such that when used in an airplane it gave good visibility and detailed information of what was happening five miles below it. It is said that the photographer could easily detect the presence of barbed wire from a height of three miles, and movements of troops that had been effected under cover of darkness were likewise traceable by the experts. Birmingham manufacturers have been so successful in making lenses that they believe they can compete with Germany, which has long had a monopoly of high-grade

A THOUGHT FOR USE ON SABBATH AND EVERY OTHER DAY

About as far as we get in the good deed business is to keep up appearances. No, that would be making us out a little worse than we really are. Let us have another try. About as near as we get to real goodness, is to possess a kind of plausible, passable goodness. Is that right? Are we not contented, almost at least, when we feel that we are regarded as generous and likable and consistent in the main? Yes, that is about the case. If the average Christian can feel that he is regarded as a Christian, he is pretty well satisfied. That is the way it seems at least. Of course there is no sure way of determining the truth of this statement, except as each one examines himself for himself.

Without controversy, a little thought will reveal how absolutely wrong it is for any one to feel self-satisfaction, that is, from a Christian standpoint. In the first place there can be no satisfaction as long as you realize what a wide difference there is in your conception of a good life and the life you actually live. And as for the actual practical accomplishments to the credit of individual Christians today, they do not exist in large numbers, despite the large sums of money now being raised for Christian objects. For it must be borne in mind that the real job of Christians is to successfully lead others to accept Christ. The personal work accomplishments of Christians today are too small. They are very, very small compared with what was done in this line by the early Christians. It is said that in the first century of Christianity, immediately following the crucifixion of Christ, that 5,000,000 people were marching under His banner. To get an idea how little Christians have done in all the 20 centuries of the Christian era, briefly consider what they MIGHT have done. And in passing remember this: "That of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these: 'IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN'."

Suppose that during their life time these 5,000,000 early Christians had each brought three persons to Christ, for the first generation or the first 23 years of the Second Century there would have been 15,000,000 Christians. While at the same rate of increase, the second generation would have witnessed 45 million Christians on the Earth. And the third generation of the Second century would have contained 135,000,000 Christians. Should each Christian have continued to win three persons to Christ, see how quickly the entire globe would have been Christianized!

But sad to say, as it is now, one can almost name the number of real Christians in a community on his fingers, and after 2000 years of Christian effort, we are living in a world of hate! It is such considerations as these that make the most optimistically inclined to sit up and take notice! Candid, intelligent uplift workers, when they see what might have been and what really is the case, must forever cease to feel complacent over the little puny victories that are now being won for Christ!

When it is realized that the Christian task and program is practically untouched, as yet, that little, almost mean feeling, over our own salvation, will pass away. And instead of using that precious scripture to the effect "at the gates of hell shall not prevail, as a kind of boast, we will set about making it come true. When it is once believed that the world can be won for Christ, it will be won. As a rule Christian people by their actions, give the lie to Christ's claim that He will dominate the world. As long as a kind of foolish faithless fatalism prevails that only a few are destined to be saved, and the idea continues to prevail that Christ did not really mean to, when He set out to win the whole, whole world, the humiliating defeats that the Christian army has met with for the last 2000 years will continue to be administered by the forces of the evil one. There is no more encouraging or heartening text of scripture for our times, any where, than this: "And the Lord said unto Moses, 'speak unto the children of Israel, that they go FORTHWARD.'"

—J. E. Blair.

"Pape's Diapepsin" at once ends Indigestion, Gases, Sourness, Acidity

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

When your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache, from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin and the stomach distress is gone.

Millions of people know the magic of Pape's Diapepsin as an antacid. They know that indigestion and disordered stomach are so needless. The relief comes quickly, no disappointment, and they cost so little too.

There Is a Medicine Called
TONO-QUIN

It is the only malaria medicine on the market that contains Pepsin. That's one drug nearly everyone needs.

It is the only one that really acts on the liver. A few doses will prove that to your entire satisfaction.

It is one of the very few that contains Iron in a form that is easily assimilated. Iron helps to make good, rich blood.

It is the only one containing such expensive and valuable medicinal ingredients that has not advanced in price.

In action it is twice as quick as Quinine Sulphate, and has no bad after-effects.

In taste, it is neither sweet and sticky, nor bitter and nauseous. There's just enough spice and "zip" in its flavor to make it pleasant to take.

It brings quick relief in all forms of malaria and is one of the most effective medicines that you can use in the treatment on colds and la grippe.

As a general TONIC and STRENGTH builder, we honestly believe that it has no equal. Yet it is not fashionably advertised as a "cure-all."

But our belief in it is strong enough that every bottle is backed by an iron clad guarantee of satisfaction or your money quickly and cheerfully refunded.

If you suffer with malaria, a stubborn cold or la grippe, or if you need a tonic that will quickly bring back your "pep" and zestful enjoyment of life, call upon your druggist TODAY for a fifty-cent bottle of Tono-Quin.

If he will not supply you, phone us, (Albany 180) and it will be delivered to your house without delay.

DOCTORS FIND

REMEDY FOR COLDS AND FLU

CALOTABS, THE NEW NAUSEA-LESS-CALOMEL TABLETS. CUT SHORT COLDS AND MAY PREVENT FLU BY KEEPING LIVER ACTIVE.

Physicians have learned from experience, during the epidemic of influenza, that one of the most important factors in the prevention of flu and pneumonia is to keep the liver active so that the digestive organs may be in perfect working order and the system thereby enabled to throw off colds, check sore throats, and resist serious complications. For this purpose they have found that the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, are far more effective even than the old style calomel, which was formerly the universal favorite, as Calotabs do not weaken the patient, nor interfere with the appetite and digestion.

At the first sign of a cold or sore throat, doctors recommend one Calotab at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, nor the slightest interference with your diet, pleasure, or work. Next morning you wake up feeling fine, your liver is active, and your appetite is keen for a good breakfast.

For your protection Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. All druggists recommend and guarantee Calotabs. Your money back if you are not delighted with them.—Advertisement.

Which Will Rule?

(By Arthur Brisbane)

One question in the United States is important, the strike question.

Ever since calling strikes ceased to be a crime, industrial problems have been settled on a strike basis.

The men have quit, saying, "Pay us what we want, or we won't come back." Sometimes they came back without getting more, when employers were strong and there was plenty of labor. Hunger drove them back.

Sometimes they stayed out until they got what they wanted, when labor was scarce, and employers did not want their plants idle; love of profit drove the employers.

Old strikes were comparatively small affairs. Occasionally they were disagreeable and bloody, but the biggest of them affected only one group, or at most one city.

Like other business enterprises, the strike has grown in bigness, importance and seriousness.

A successful railroad strike would tie up industries, and starve or half starve the people in the cities.

A successful coal strike would tie up the railroads, to begin with, and everything else. While four or five hundred thousand men were fighting it out with their employers, millions of men would be idle by force; employers couldn't hire them, even if they wanted to.

There comes from Washington the President's statement that it is a crime to plan a strike to benefit half a million and injure one hundred millions.

The workmen say if a small strike is legal, a big strike is legal. If the Government doesn't want the consequences it should compel mine owners to give in.

Mine owners say if they concede a workday of six hours, a working week of five days now, the next thing would be a four-hour day, a three-day week, and gradually labor would reach the vanishing point.

It is a question the public will have to solve for itself. Ninety-nine million five hundred thousand citizens are more important than five hundred thousand coal miners. The ninety-nine million five hundred thousand must be protected first, even though temporary injustice or apparent deprivation of rights should be inflicted upon the five hundred thousand.

When war threatens the entire nation from abroad, men are chosen without their consent and sent to be killed to protect the millions. When industrial war threatens one hundred million people, the hundred million must be protected, no matter who suffers, no matter what fine speeches may be made about the right of a man to work or not to work.

It is not for the five hundred thousand coal miners, or for the handful of men that make fortunes by owning the mines, to decide what shall be done or how the thing shall be settled.

The people of the United States own the mines. All private ownership is simply a condition existing by consent of the Government, one that can be ended at any moment under the right of eminent domain.

The five hundred thousand coal miners are a minority in the nation. Whatever they think or want must give way to the needs of the majority. That is the law in a republic.

Suppose, instead of cutting off coal, another strike that would cut off water.

Suppose private companies "owned" the water, and their workmen decided to cut off the water while settling a quarrel with their employers.

How long would the people tolerate being deprived of fresh water? How many children would they allow to die of thirst? How long would they tolerate such a condition, or listen to arguments in favor of the right of men to strike?

The difference between coal and water is not so great. You can live only six days without water. You might live several months without coal. But to stop the supply of coal injures every human being in the country; stops industrial production at a time when it is absolutely necessary.

And there is no doubt that in one way or another the ninety-nine million five hundred thousand people of the United States will make up their minds to decide, without first having coal, railroads, water, milk or mail suddenly cut off, what should be done to treat employers and workers justly.

Arbitration to be just must take into consideration the hard work that the men do, and realize that first the public, second the workers, and third the owners are to be considered.

The unpleasant truth is that following the world war almost every nation, this one included, now faces industrial war. There is an angry attitude on both sides of the fence, among employers and employees. Where there ought to be cooperation, fair dealings, there is hostility. Solving the problem is going to be one of the most difficult tasks in the country's history.

SEATS ON SALE TOMORROWDo American Girls Flirt Too Much?

Read What the Famous Doctors Say

"Yes," says Japanese woman physician. "No," declare Norwegian and Swedish Experts Here for Conference.

My MARGERY REX.

Written for the International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Are American girls tired-looking because they waste too much energy in love affairs? Yes, says Dr. Tomo Inoue of Japan, who first made this statement. No, says Dr. Kristine Munich, of Norway, and Dr. Alma Sundquist, of Sweden, who declare love affairs keep women young and render secure the bloom of youth and beauty. These scientists are delegates to the International Conference of Women Physicians, and during a recent trip to the national capital delivered themselves of their respective opinions on why our women look "so tired."

In search of an authoritative opinion from an American we hastened to consult Dr. Beatrice Hinkle, celebrated physician and psycho-analyst. Said Dr. Hinkle:

"If American girls are worn out and look tired the cause is not too many love affairs."

"That tired look, whenever it is present, is caused by the tension under which the girl lives; and in some cases by the enormous output of energy and the unsatisfying conditions of her life. A lack of love affairs would be a more apt cause than 'tired look' than too great a number."

"It is absolutely true that the girl with many suitors looks happier and healthier than the neglected, unattractive young woman. The unsought girl suffers an agony of unappreciation that reflects itself in her unhappy look. It is not at all silly for a girl to be made happy by masculine attentions. It is the normal state, it is involuntary and instinctive and has nothing to do with reason or logic."

"Yet the girl who plays and trifles with men is simply behaving in an immature, actually infantile manner. She carries into adult life a condition acceptable only in the life of the child."

"Such a young woman is keeping herself in the state of mind of the child, and physically her condition is one of 'hope deferred maketh the heart sick.' She plays with one young man and another, but none of these loves reaches fulfillment, its natural object."

"Before we criticize the girl who is attracted by many men we must always discover what her aim is. Then we can possibly understand her. She is a 'seeker' and we do not know what 'motivation' causes her various quests. The 'seeker' type of individual often is looking for an ideal, and places his on her own halo on each new acquaintance, only to find it does not fit. Then he or she transfers it to the next."

"She is often held back from a sensible choice by the impossibly high ideal that has been held before her both in literature and in the home. She cannot find this ideal man for he does not exist. She rejects one good man after another and has not gained her object."

"There is great good in the worldly wisdom that urges a girl to marry some suitable worthy man who desires her for his wife. But she pouts 'I don't love him so very much,' and then refuses. You see she has in her mind that ideal and the man hardly approaches it."

"Now and then great and intense attractions spring up. They come into being suddenly and go out just as suddenly."

"Any psychologist will tell you that these intense passions burn out quickly. A solid and satisfying relation is one based on substantial qualities."

"Let us teach the facts and the psychology of life to the young girl, leaving out the old-fashioned ideal of perfection. A girl who is considering a young man's attentions should try to understand him, his needs, his temperament. She should try to see his good qualities and not expect him to be impossibly perfect."

"I believe much of our trouble with the problems of girls is due to our stern Puritanism in not being willing to face the facts and discuss them sanely."

"So much of our teaching and our literature is idealistic, unpractical, and therefore seriously detrimental to the young."

Scene for "SCANDAL" at the Masonic theatre Thursday, November 6.
